

NAVIGATING ISLAND HEALTH MEDICAL LEADERSHIP

Whether you are new to a medical leadership role, been in a leadership role for many years, or thinking of taking on a medical leadership role in the near future, you can enhance your understanding of health systems operations and influence change through the knowledge and skills delivered at Navigating Island Health Medical Leadership. This half-day interactive workshop is designed to help current and emerging leaders gain a deeper knowledge of the health system and practice health leadership skills.

Workshop 10:00 – 3:30
Working lunch provided.

Effectively navigating the health system requires understanding of the system structure and processes. Participants will learn about the medical leadership structure, the medical leadership roles within them, and how they function within the system. In addition, participants will learn about planning cycles, Island Health and provincial strategic goals, patient safety and quality improvement from a medical leaders' perspective, as well as strategies to promote a values-based culture.

The event concludes with an interactive panel discussion addressing the challenges facing medical leaders.

October 29th, 2019
Begbie Hall RJH
Woodward Room

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES*

After this session participants will be able to:

- Describe the role of medical leader and the value of medical leaders' involvement in health administration.
- Explain the key concepts and principles that facilitate and support patient safety and clinical quality improvement.
- Align medical-leader performance goals with those of the health authority and the provincial health care system.
- Effectively participate in administrative decision-making.
- Take steps to create a values-based workplace culture focused on delivering safe patient care.

This event qualifies for 3.75 MOC Section 1 and 3.75 Mainpro+ credits.

REGISTRATION DETAILS

Antoinette Picone
Coordinator, Medical Staff Engagement and Development
Medical & Academic Affairs
Antoinette.Picone@viha.ca or MedStaffDevelopment@viha.ca
www.MEDICALSTAFF.ISLANDHEALTH.CA/

Medical Staff
Engagement & Development

