

September 8, 2021 – British Columbia (BC) Digital Vaccine Card

Sadly, four people died of COVID-19 in the Island Health region over the long weekend. Our sincere condolences to their loved ones, communities, and to those who provided care. This loss of life over the weekend again reminds of the impact we can all make in our communities by encouraging all members of the public to get vaccinated.

Premier John Horgan officially launched the B.C. Vaccine Card, a digital or printed document British Columbians will need to access non-essential activities and services, including restaurants, sporting events, movie theatres and gyms. "Getting vaccinated is the proven choice to protect ourselves and the people around us... the requirement for proof of vaccine will make our communities safer and also ensure that events and gatherings are safer for all of us," said Dr. Bonnie Henry. "We have put the vaccine card in place to keep businesses open, to keep people working, and to keep people safe."

While recognizing that COVID-19 will continue with us as an endemic, the BC Ministry of Health has updated acute care visitation guidelines to balance safety measures with the need for connection between patients and their families. The changes include allowing two visitors at a time for all patients (some exceptions include ICU and EDs where it may be limited to one visitor, and pediatric/labour and delivery, palliative and end of life, where more than two visitors may be allowed.) Clinical decision making will continue to guide unique circumstances and other considerations, such as multi-bed rooms. In addition, consistent with the BC Ministry of Health policy, mask use will continue to be required for all staff and visitors, including people who are confirmed fully vaccinated. Finally, staff in long-term care, seniors' assisted living and provincial mental health facilities are required to be vaccinated. Vaccination status of employees is being confirmed through the process required by the PHO under the COVID-19 Vaccination Status Information and Preventive Measures Order. Effective September 13, 2021, any staff who are not yet fully vaccinated (7 days past Dose 2 of vaccine) will need to undergo rapid testing for COVID-19 on every shift worked.
